Men of Acacia Fraternity

Dear Gentlemen:

I would like to congratulate you and your alumni for all of your efforts in implementing your program "Together Building Exceptional Lives." I was particularly pleased to learn that at the core of your Mission Statement for Acacia Fraternity is an expectation that an Acacian's life is a commitment to supporting the community, university and undergraduate chapter. It is through this type of lifelong commitment among actives and alumni that the leadership capacity of everyone associated with the fraternity is developed.

Acacians have had a long and distinguished role of positively impacting Kansas State University. The effort launched by the alumni to create the Acacia Board of Directors in 1999 was a significant step in continuing this legacy. In fact, I wish more of our fraternities at K-State had the type of active alumni support which you are experiencing. Leadership is not just development at a given point in time, but a lifelong process. Alumni advice, counsel and role modeling are all essential ingredients in ensuring that the values and mission of the fraternity are fully experienced over each member's lifetime.

I know from talking with Vice President Krause and others, that the University's administrative resources strongly support the efforts of Acacia and they have remained in close contact with several alumni. As you continue your commitment to "Together Building Exceptional Lives," you should know that Kansas State University is both supportive and proud of your accomplishments. Best wishes for continuing success.

Sincerely,

Jon Wefald
President
